LOVERS OF YACHTING. Yachtsmen and yachtwomen, however, are not the only people who assemble religiously each season at Cowes. Many a woman, and man, too, for that matter, make a point of being there to whom realistic yachting is anathema marathantha, and whose ideas upon the subjects of time allowance, centerboards and ratings are strictly alien.

SOCIETY AT NEWPORT. Newport, R. I., Aug. 10 (Special).—A pouring rain all the afternoon made everything dull and quiet both indoors and out. There was no polo, the opening match in the week's series having been set for this afternoon, and, indeed, there would have been no polo had the weather been pleasant, as the Philadelphia Yacht Club, which was drawn against the Newport Club of Westchester, failed to fill their entry.

PUNTING RACES.

It was remarked at Henley this year that an unusual number of boats were to be seen sculler and punter by pretty girls, while their male occupants smoked and lay about on cushions. Women's punting races have become a feature of most minor regattas. At Cookham the big Challenge Cup competition for women punters forms an important part of the regatta. Thin serges, pique blouses and cottons are best; trim, tidy sailor hats when at work, all kinds of rustic and poetical headgear when idle. The London hat or bonnet is fraught with absurdity, but the wide, shady straw hat, adorned with flowers, the alluring acordion pleated crown, the sun bonnet, and the beauties of dark eyes and fair complexion.

GOOD CHEER. Have you had a kindness shown? Pass it on. 'Twas a gift for you alone—Pass it on. Let it travel down the years. Let it wipe another's tears. Till in heaven the deed appears. Pass it on.

Two million bushels estimated to have been lost in North Dakota. St. Paul, Aug. 10.—A Fargo (N. D.) dispatch to the Phoenix (Ariz.) says that 2,000,000 bushels of wheat are estimated to have been lost in today's hailstorm, which partially destroyed the crop on nearly two hundred and fifty thousand acres of land in the State. Farmers who were busily engaged this morning in cutting wheat were driven to their barns for shelter, and afterwards found it unnecessary to take the binders back to the fields, as the grain had been harvested by hail in a few moments.

Just before 11 o'clock the storm struck the northern part of Cass and the southern part of Traill counties. In addition to a big area, over which hail fell thickly, heavy wind and rain storms completed the destruction of thousands of acres of grain on either side of the centre of the path of the hail, covering an area of fifteen miles north and south between Argusville and Gardner. In Cass to the west of Argusville and in Traill to the west of Traill, ranging from five miles on the south to fifteen or twenty on the north, the country is practically devastated.

The losses are estimated all the way from 25 to 100 per cent of the crop. The average in Cass and Traill is placed at from 100,000 to 200,000.

SHOT HIS WIFE INSTEAD OF A BURGLAR. SHE WAS KILLED BY THE BULLET MEANT FOR THE INTRUDER. Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 10 (Special).—Before daylight yesterday morning, at Cass Station, Ga., about forty miles below here, the home of Charles Cox, a young married man, was entered by a burglar, who was ransacking the house when he awakened Cox and his wife. They both arose and started in search of the thief, and as Mrs. Cox passed through a door in the dark she came in collision with the intruder. She screamed, and her husband fired a shot with his pistol, thinking that he was shooting at the burglar.

At the same moment the burglar fired at Cox, and by the light of the pistol Cox saw his wife being picked up by his wife and found a gaping hole in her breast. She died almost instantaneously. Mrs. Cox had only been married a short time. The burglar has become almost insane over the unfortunate affair, and it is feared that he will commit suicide. A posse is scouring the country for the burglar, who was thought to be a negro.
